Welcome to the Burton Bradstock Festival of Music and Art

With 14 musical events packed into just six days the 32nd Burton Bradstock Festival promises to be a vintage year. This summer Britain will be in the world's eye and to celebrate, we will be revelling in the glory of English music, exploring the unexpected and quirky, rejoicing in the classics and, most important of all, treating you to performances by world-class musicians that we hope will surprise, move and delight.

Gerald Finzi's gorgeous Clarinet Concerto with the brilliant Anna Hashimoto is sure to be just one highlight of the week. You'll also be able to hear Vaughan William's evergreen Lark Ascending, Schubert's dramatic Death and the Maiden string quartet, Shakespeare songs and, at the late night concerts, one or two things that you've never heard before! An art exhibition by some of the West Country's finest artists opens in the Village Hall and there will be a workshop for young musicians, jazz and folk concerts. It all starts with a village tea party in the Rectory Garden - we hope you'll come and join in the fun.
